

MARCH 6, 2007

Errata Sheet for Effects Determination

Risks of Atrazine Use to Eight Federally Listed Endangered Freshwater Mussels- February 28, 2007

1. The February 28, 2007 Effects Determination titled “Risks of Atrazine use to Eight Federally Listed Endangered Freshwater Mussels – February 28, 2007” incorrectly identifies the action area for this assessment in the text of several sections of the document. Analyses, graphic representations of the action area, and tables are correct. However, in the text the word “Nebraska” was incorrectly used in place of the word “Kansas” in several locations. Following are the specific locations of this error and the corrected statement:

Page 8, Paragraph 2, line 10 should read: “The action area also includes an isolated section in Arkansas, Missouri, and Kansas.”

Page 29, Paragraph 2, line 3 should read: “Information on the agricultural uses of atrazine in the states comprising the action area for the eight assessed mussels (Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and North Carolina), as ...”

Page 33, Paragraph 2, line 1 should read: “In general, this information suggests that the northern portion of the action area is located within the highest atrazine use area in Illinois, Iowa and Kansas.”

Page 47, Paragraph 1, line 4 should read: “The action area also includes an isolated section in Arkansas, Missouri, and Kansas.”

Page 48, Paragraph 1, line 2 should read: “... in northern Arkansas, Missouri, and eastern Kansas.”

Page 62, Paragraph 2, line 9 should read: “...Pennsylvania, and Ohio), the western tier (Arkansas, Missouri, and eastern Kansas), the...”

2. Appendix G: “Bibliography of ECOTOX Open Literature Not Evaluated”, inadvertently omitted citations for those papers rejected by ECOTOX. These citations have now been included and begin on page 128 of Appendix G which has been re-titled: “Appendix G: Bibliography of ECOTOX Open Literature Not Evaluated and Papers Rejected by ECOTOX”